Creating Learners That Want to Learn (Early Learners) 1/2 Day Workshop

September 25, 2015 12:30pm-3:30pm

Hilton Garden Inn
Garden Room
7675 Walton Street
Rockford, IL 61108

Many learners with Autism Spectrum Disorder do not readily seek out new information and some appear to have a hard time learning. This workshop will detail the behavior-analytic approach to helping learners with ASD be willing to learn. More specifically, focus will be placed on early learners, who have very few skills and are often non-vocal. Participants will practice this approach and discussion will take place related to the strategies presented.

Participants will be able to:

- Describe and demonstrate pairing.
- Provide three examples of a mand.
- List two ways to gain instructional control.

Who should attend:

- Special Education Teachers
- Social workers
- Speech pathologists
- School psychologists
- School administrators
- Paraprofessionals and instructional assistants
- Parents and anyone else working with students with ASD or developmental disabilities

REGISTER HERE: <http://tinyurl.com/or9jse5>

Lunch will be provided.

Registration opens at 12:00pm
